Identification of potential risk of slavery and human trafficking areas in the business

Morson has identified the following business areas as the most significant potential risk;

- The provision of Agency labour
- The supply chain

The provision of agency labour

1. The potential risk

Enslaved or human trafficked individuals are placed in work as agency labour with client

2. Risk control

Morson undertakes rigorous checks on each individual including; eligibility to work, references, qualifications, Proof of NI (UK), and bank details to ensure each person is acting in their own right.

The supply chain

1 The potential risk

The use of suppliers that contravene the Modern Slavery Act 2015

2 Risk control

All suppliers are required to complete and return a supplier appraisal questionnaire and to commit to their adherence to the Modern Slavery Act 2015.

Due diligence process for slavery and human trafficking

As part of our initiative to identify and mitigate risk;

- We conduct internal audits on our recruitment process to ensure that only eligible workers are engaged for agency work
- We review our supplier appraisal questionnaires as required by our Procurement Process in our Quality Management System.
- Our point of contact with national or international supply chains is often with a UK company. We expect these entities to have suitable anti-slavery and human trafficking policies and processes. It is not practical for us to have a direct relationship and influence with all levels in the supply chain.
- Regularly updated Supplier Appraisal Questionnaire.
- Dedicated Eligibility to Work team as part of the assurance Process.

Our effectiveness in combating Modern slavery and human trafficking

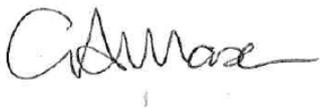

We measure the effectiveness of our risk control measures and due diligence to ensure that slavery and human trafficking is not taking place in our business or supply chains.

The Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) are;

- 100% pass rate in the internal audits of the recruitment and induction procedures
- 100% confirmation of suppliers of adherence to the Modern Slavery Act 2015
- No evidence during the year of Modern slavery activity amongst the agency labour supplied
- No evidence during the year of Modern Slavery activity amongst our supply chain

To ensure a high level of understanding of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in our business and our supply chains we will provide relevant information to all staff via our HR induction and our company intranet.
